

The Chinese University of Hong Kong Physics Summer Camp 2021 (Early Admission to MPhil/PhD Programmes)

The Chinese University of Hong Kong is a leading comprehensive research university in China and Asia. The cutting-edge research in the Department of Physics is recognized worldwide, which includes: astrophysics and particle physics, biophysics, condensed matter physics, materials science, quantum physics and atomic and molecular optical (AMO) physics, soft matter and complex system physics.

Details of research areas: <http://www.phy.cuhk.edu.hk/research/areas.php>

Date: 6 July – 8 July 2021

Target: Applicants applying for early admission to MPhil/PhD programme in Physics or Materials Science and Engineering in Fall 2022

Contents: Lectures, lab tours, experience sharing and admission interview (Zoom-based)

Fees: Free of charge

Admission Requirements for MPhil/PhD Programme:

- Bachelor's or Master's degree in related disciplines (by the time of admission), with a good major GPA (typically 3.2 or above) OR a good honors degree (typically Second Class Upper Division or above).
- Fulfill the English language proficiency requirement, e.g., provide TOEFL (iBT: ≥ 79) or IELTS (Band ≥ 6.5) score report. [Note: No need to submit English test scores at the time of application.]
- Optional: Score 800 or above in GRE Subject Test ("Physics", "Chemistry", "Mathematics" or "Biology").

Financial Support for Research Postgraduate Students:

- Admitted students will be provided a monthly studentship of HKD18,025 (2020-21) and medical benefits.
- Outstanding students will be recommended to compete for Hong Kong PhD Fellowship Scheme (<http://www.rgc.edu.hk/hkphd>). Awardees will be provided a monthly studentship of HK$26,600 and a conference travel allowance of HK$13,300 per year.

Application Procedures:

Please refer to our websites

- <http://www.phy.cuhk.edu.hk/admission/pgphy.html> (Physics)
- <http://www.phy.cuhk.edu.hk/admission/pgmse.html> (Materials Science & Engineering) or send e-mail to pyho@phy.cuhk.edu.hk for enquiries.

Application Deadline: 25 June 2021

(PHYS)

(MSEG)